You might have missed . . .

August 14: Senator Richard Blumenthal visited the CTech IncUBator on campus for a cyber-security demonstration by FaceChecks, whose face-recognition and background-check software has been developed by Colucci Investigations, LLC, a traditional investigation firm located at the IncUBator. Colucci worked in partnership with UB's School of Engineering using a $25,000 grant from Connecticut Innovations, the state's quasi-public technology authority, to create the new software.

September 21: Saudi Arabia's 82nd National Day, officially September 23, was celebrated in the Student Center Social Room by UB's Saudi students, guests, and well-wishers, with free food; information about the country's history, culture, and development; henna design and your name written in Arabic; souvenirs; and dancing to traditional music. In photo below, President Salonen enjoyed Saudi hospitality at the event.

UB ACHIEVEMENTS & HONORS

STUDENTS & ALUMNI

ATHLETICS

Dave James '10, has done it again! He and his Team INOV8 partner, Amy Lane, took second place in the 2012 Gore-Tex TransRockies Run, a 6-day, 120-mile trail race over wild scenery from Buena Vista to Beaver Creek, CO, August 13-18.

Taylor McBeth, senior, and Ying Shen, sophomore, were named East Coast Conference Volleyball Players of the Week, on September 4 and 10, respectively.

Clayton Ulmer, junior defender, was named the East Coast Conference Preseason Defensive Soccer Player of the Year on August 23.

PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT INSTITUTE

Lisette Cruz '14 has been named a National Health Service Scholar after a nationwide competitive process. She has been awarded a full scholarship covering tuition, expenses, and a monthly stipend at UB. On graduation she will begin her practice with the underserved at a High Need primary care clinic of her choosing.

FACULTY & STAFF

BUSINESS

James Sagner, associate professor of finance, has published "Regulation of Financial Services Industries: Selected Global Approaches," in the International Journal of Business, September 2012.

Lloyd Gibson, dean, was recently interviewed for an article in the Fairfield County Business Journal. See <http://westfaironline.com/47793/qa-with-new-ub-business-school-dean/>.

CHIROPRACTIC

Paul Sherman, coordinator of academic affairs and associate professor of clinical sciences, presented two post-graduate teleseminars through Chirocredit.com, on August 25 and September 15, respectively.
